ONE YEAR AGO.—It is interesting to recall the important events which transpired during the month of May of last year, when the rebellion was in its incipiency, as they are chronologically arranged by the Philadelphia Inquirer. On the 1st of May, 1861, the Secretary of State publicly denied the rumor which was then current, that an he bravely repulsed, and afterward brought his that the days of compromise had ended on the 12th of April-the date of the bombardment of Sumpter. On the same day Massachusetts received the murdered men from Baltimore, and buried them with public honors. The Governor of Connecticut issued his war message, calling for men and means to suppress the rebellion. On the 2d. Norfolk, Va., was blockaded. The "Union party" of Tennessee met in convention at Nashville, and nominated William B. Campbell for Governor. On the third, the President issued a second proclamation, calling for 82,748 volunteers, in addition to the first call for seventy-five thousand. Oa the fourth, Pensacola, Florida, was blockaded. YOUNG MEN, TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE Dr. H. devotes much of his time to the treatment those cases caused by a secret habit which ruins be body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual settler business or society. The sad effect of these car habits, or the excess of riper years, are to weaken as debilitate the constitution, destroy the physical as mental powers, diminish and enfechle the natural feings, and exhaust the vittel energies of manhood: the pleasures of life are marred, the object of marria frustrated, and existence itself rendered a term of u ceasing misery and regret. Such persons, especial those contemplating marriage, should lose no time making immediate application, as Dr. H., by his ne treatment, is enabled to insure a speedy and permaner cure.

converted young rebel in Missouri to his ever loval uncle in Kentucky: PLEASANT HILL, Mo., March 25, 1862.

DEAR UNCLE: I embrace the present oppor-tunity of addressing you a few lices, although I confess with somewhat different feelings from what I entertained at the time I wrote to you My political opinions have undergone an er you.

I was for the Union as long as I thought there was any hope, and as long as I thought the war was carried on solely for the restoration of the Constitution and laws. But the manner in which the war was commenced in Missouri by the appointment of such notorious abolition brigand as Lane, Jennison, and Montgomery to high and important positions in the army—whose march through our State was marked with the march through our State was marked with the wildest scene of ruin and desolation, hardly equalled in barbarity by the Jacobins of the French revolution; by the proclamation of Gen. Fremont, which emancipated all the slaves of secssionists in Missouri, I was led to believe that the war was waged for the abolition of slavery and the reduction of the Southern recollege to phiest slavery. of the Southern people to abject slavery ding as I did thess conscientious convictions, could not do otherwise than throw my mit against the Government.

Another great influence which was brought to bear upon the people was the wild and fanatical spirit of public opinion, which, with irresistible force, and with the rapidity of lightning, swept thousands into the vortex of this wicked rebellion. But after the recall of Fremont, and the defeat of all the ultra confiscation bills in Con-defeat of all the ultra confiscation bills in Congress, I became convinced that I was in error in regard to the policy of the Government.

And here let me remark—had it not been for the Kentucky and Missouri delegation in Congress, who so nobly stood at their posts and battled against the fanatical schemes of abolitionists, this Union would inevitably have gone to pieces. When I look around and see the awful condition of our State; see the smouldering ruins of what was the happy abode of peaceful citizens, the utter stagnation of all kinds of business, I blush with shame to think that I have been connected with those who have been the means of ruining our State.

If you think it worthy of a place in your valuable paper you are at libsity to pub-lish it, if not consign it to the flames. If you pub-lish it, I hope it will be read with profit and inte rest by all those young men who have been gulled into this atrocious rebellion. Yours respectfully.

In this hope of our worthy friend we cordially unite. And we do not doubt that the hope will be realized more or less completely. The lesson of the letter in this aspect is obvidegree at least.

But there is another aspect in which the letter teaches a lesson not so obvious but hardly ment. We refer to the instrumentalities by

The rebals have been guilty of the most murderous and barbarous conduct in placing torpedoes within the abandoned works, near miles and springs, and near flag-staffs, magazines, telegraph offices, carpet-bags, barrels of flour, &c. Fortunately we have not lost many men in this manner. Some four or five have been killed, and perhaps a dezen wounded. I shall make the prisoners thing quite so mitting quite move them at their own peril.

Mines and torpedoes, arranged for the defence of fortifications against an assailing force, are undoubtedly a legitimate means of warfare, but planting them where no battle can occur, to kill men undreaming of peril, men with their swords in their sheaths, is as much murder as it would be to send men boxes to explode upon the opening of the lids. MAIL CONTRACTS. - The new contracts which have recently been made for the conveyance of the mails do not, as we understand, go into effect until the first of July. In the meantime, all that portion of the country restored to the Union, in which the service was heretofore performed by rebel sympathisers who have gone into the Confederate ranks, must remain for two months be fore its people can obtain a letter or a paper. We do not conceive that anything more is necessary than to call the attention of the Postoffice Department to this great and manifest injustice, t insure its correction. The Government is pledged by every principle of honor to supply them with the mails, and they should be supplied at once, without waiting for any circumlocutory details Let the contractors enter upon their duties at once, and the Government will certainly remu nerate them and thank them for having aided i to perform its functions. It may be some trouble to the financial department of the General Postoffice to have a break in its fiscal year, but these extraordinary times require some extra work in all branches of the public service. We want the mails served for a double reason; we desire that loval men may have the privileges of correspondence and receiving their newspapers, and we desire the heretofore disloyal to read the news of Union successes that they may see how hopeless is the cause | Landing, Tennessee, on Saturday, 31 inst., with of the Confederacy, and how insane is the effort to further withstand the mejestic march of the Dr. F. F. Azpell, late of Philadelphia, Pa, sur-

THE LEBANON FIGHT -It seems that the guerilla bands of the rebels were not deterred by the severe chastisement meted out to them by Col. Wolford within the past two or three weeks. Taking advantage of his presence in Nashville, they had assembled in considerable force at Lebanon, some twenty or thirty miles directly east of the Capital, where they were completely surprised yesterday morning, by Gen. Dumont, with cavalry detachments from Wolford's and Smith's Kentucky and Wynkoop's Pennsylvania regiments, and totally routed, after a fight of an hour and a half. The affair was spirited, and its success complete. . We have to regret that Cols. Wolford and Smith are both wounded the former seriously. The Union cause and the oppressed people of Middle Tennessee have cause for great consolation in the dispersion of the infamous band of marauders who have so long terrorized the inhabitants of that State and committed brutalities which would disgrace savage warfare. The report that Morgan is killed will, it is to be hoped. be fully confirmed; if he is not dead, however, it seems impossible that he can escape capture, as Gen. Damont gave active chase to the flying rebels, and will not quit their tracks until all are hunted down. The taking of one hundred and fifty blow, and deter other robber bands from the insane effort to defy the power of the Union and resist the enforcement of its authority.

stated that a rebel band of cavalry one thousand strong, supposed to be under the command of Morgan, made a descent upon Pulaski, Giles county, Tenn, last Friday, and took 250 Union prisoners and destroyed several baggage wagons. The prisoners were related on parole and sent to Nashrille. Among them are Captains Hazlett and McKinney, Lieuts Cary, Thomas, Dyall, Chambers, and Leonard, of the 20th Ohio, and seventy privates. Captain John Jumper and Adjutant John C. Neal with 115 privates of the 18th Ohio, Lieut Elwin M. Mitchell of Kennett's 4th Ohio cavalry, a son of Geo. Mitchell, Capt. Matthew Ewng, two subalterns, and 53 men of the 21st Ohio. The fight was vigorously contested for nearly three hours, with a loss of two killed, 3 wounded, and one missing on the Federal side, while the rebels lost six killed and two wounded. All was done that gallantry could effect in the face of superior numbers, but our men were embarrassed by their wagon trains, and were unable to make effective resistance.

ELEGANT BUTTER. - With the delicious grass which now renders our meadows vast fields of waving emeralds, comes the season when our dairies produce luscious butter; and a good article of butter is the chief necessity of the breakfast or tea table. We are therefore happy to state that Dick Moore is prepared to furnish families with the very best butter that one of the finest dairies in Fayette county, so celebrated for the products of the churn, can produce. He will receive a supply once a week, and he has extensive ice chests, in which it can always be kept in order until it is wanted. Our friends, by calling at Moore's, on Fourth street, near Green, can make their arrangements for the summer, and give themselves no further uneasiness about it.

REBEL BARBARITIES .- We need hardly call attention to the Congressional Report which appears on the outside of this morning's paper, for it will force itself upon the indignant scrutiny of every citizen. Its details are sickening, Prisoners were shot malignantly in cold blood, graves rans acked as if by ghouls, females robbed and insulted, officers abused and insulted by their captors, the wounded refused the services of their own surgeons, and backed to death by unskillful practitioners, and flesh boiled off the bones to be used for drinking cups, finger rings, and drum-

Course of Lectures Proposed .- It is proposed by Professors Grant, Jenkins, and Hailman of the Louisville Male and Female High Schools, to deliver a course of lectures, for the instruction of teachers and others connected with the schools. Prof. Jeckins will lecture on Saturday evenings upon Natural Sciences, Prof. Hailman on Tuesday evenings upon Geology, we believe, and Prof. Grant at some time not specified upon Political Economy. Each gentleman named is eminently qualified to treat his subject with ability and with profit to his audience.

A bouquet made entirely of various vegetables, cut with a common case knife into the forms of dahlias, roses, pinks, and other flowers, the hardiwork of Mons. Garnier, may be seen in the window of his restaurant, next door but one to our office. He creates bouquets as finely as he dishes up sautees salmis or soufflats, and as a glorious chef de cuisine we present him the assu rances of our distinguished consideration. Charles Miller were set for Wednesday. At a meeting of the Union citizens of the Fourth Ward, held at Apollo Hall last evening, to nominate a candidate for Alderman in place of Thomas Shanks, resigned, Thomas Shanks was called to the Chair, and J. C. Mutholland appointed Secretary. Mr. Arthur Peter was unanimously nominated for the position, and the choice Run-Telegraphic News-Correspondence - Miscella of the loyal citizens of the ward could not have fallen on a more worthy gentleman. The election will be held next Saturday, and we presume there will be no opposition to Mr. Peter.

Miss Nancy Irwin gratefully acknowledges ne box containing ninety pounds of butter, from he ladies of Burrill township, Westmorland couny, Pennsylvania, for hospital use.

Mr. George McLeod, formerly of the Louis_ ville and Nashville Railroad, and largely engaged in its original survey and construction, has been choosen President of the Jeffersonville railroad, in the place of D. Rickett, Esq., resigned. While we congratulate the company upon having secured the valuable services of so scientific and practical a gentleman as Mr. McLeod we may also felicitate it upon retaining the experience and judgment of Mr. Ricketts, who now occupies the position of Vice President.

To-day a year ago Virginia was graiously admitted to the Southern Confederacy the Arkansas convention voted to secede, and the Kentucky Legislature met in extra session upon the call of Gov. Magoffin.

More Sick and Wounded. - The steame Empress, Capt. S. Rider, having been chartered by Government for a hospital, left Pittsburg over 500 sick and wounded soldiers in charge of geon Major, Dr. Buck, of the army, assisted by Drs. Spail, Mack, and J. E. Eois, the latter, although holding a position in one of the Departments at Washington, is now devoting himself to the care of our sick and wounded soldiers. Nor should the services of the indefatigable hospital steward, Mr. E. B. Linsay, remain unnoticed Mrs. Witherell is in charge of the linen-room, and four Sisters of Mercy minister to the wants of the afflicted. They are from Chicago, and are assisted by three lay assistants. The blessings of the sick soldiers follow them, as they, with untiring solicitude, attend to the necessities of those poor boys so long away from home and the kind attentions of mother and sister! They have their reward. Among the passengers is Capt. Wm. T. Hoblitzell, aid to Gen. McCook, who rendered invaluable services at the battle of Shiloh. He had been quite unwell previous to the battle, and his exertions on those eventful days completely prosfrated him. He returns home in order to recuperate in time to again serve his country. NASHVILLE, May 6. Gen. Dumont, with portions of Col. Wolford's 1st Kentucky cavalry, Col. Clay Smith's 4th Kentucky cavalry, and Col. George Wynkoop's Pennsylvania cavalry, made an attack on a force gan and Woods at Lebanon, Wilson county, Tenand it is hoped that very few of the notorious band of marauders will be able to effect their escaps. The prisoners will be sent on here this

The attack was a complete surprise, most brilliantly managed by General Dumont, and after the parties were fairly engaged his strategy evinced great skill, feiling and outwitting the rebels at every point. Colonel G. Clay Smith, who has just succeeded o the command of the 4th Kentucky cavalry, was wounded in the leg, and Col. F. L. Wolford seriusly in the abdomen.

It is reported that Morgan, the notorious maauder, was killed during the engagement. Col. Wynkoop, with his Pennsylvania troops, tood gallantly with the Kentucky troops in this

BALTIMORE, May 6. The following is taken from the American's pecial Fortress Monroe letter:

The French steamer Gazzendi came down from Yorktown, bringing the French Minister and Capt. Fox, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. We learn that up to one o'clock the steamers with General Franklin's division had not gone beyond one of the gunboats which went up York river n Sunday morning has returned. She reports he found the river unobstructed; that our gunousts had reached West Point, and that a force had been landed and a bridge on the road to Richoord destroyed.

Several rebel transports were overtaken going

Yorktown. They were waiting to hear from up the river, a few of which were run ashore and ourned—those on board escaping while other were captured. Latest advices state that General McClellan is with the advance, and supposed to be before Wil-lamsburg, in which direction there has been much

Yesterday evening a schooner came down the James river from Richmond, and, when near Newport News, was run ashore on the south side of the river. Her singular movements attracted considerable attention. The men were seen to take to their boats and pull for Newport News. They said they had intentionally run her ashore for the purpose of reaching our lines, and that she contained sixty tons of coal for the Merrimac. Several boats were immediately manned and started out for the purpose of endeavoring to tow nnonading all day. started out for the purpose of endeavoring to tow her off, but fieding this to be impossible they set her on fire, and she burned to the water's edge. The Merrimac was in sight at the time but dil not venture to save the vessel. The crew were taken to headquarters. They gave a deplorable account of affairs in R chmond. The rebel troops

Among the prisoners taken at Yorktown is the Chief of Eogineers of General Johnson's Staff, who states that the whole rebel army at Yorktown amounted to 85,000 men. He gives a most deporable eccount of the condition of the army, and says they will be unable to make a stand anywhere this side of Richmond.

Their retreat commenced before daylight Saturday morning, and he doubts not that the advance was twenty miles distant at the time the last gun was fired from Yorktown on Saturday morning.

General McClellan signalled five gunboats lying before Yorktown to proceed up the river to West Point and remove all the obstacles in their way. Quite a fleet of steamers and vessels, loaded with troops, were discovered, and a pursuit commenced, resulting in the capture of some, whilst others were run ashore and fired by those on board, who escaped to the woods.

It is said that by three o'clock in the evening the gunboats had reached West Point, the he dof navigation, nearly thirty miles above Yorktown, frequently shelling parties of the enemy who were flying along the shores, and flanking that portion of the retreating army that was miving towards West Point to take the railroad for Richmond.

The steamer Ella, from Pittsburg Landing Sunday sferonon, arrived last night.

General Pope, by placing a battery of artillery in an open field, near Farmington, in sight of 3 regiments of rebels, succeeded in luring them on to take the battery, when he tock the whole force, numbering 2,000, prisoners.

Desorters report great dissatisfaction in the rebel army, both among men and officers.

Beauregard had made a speech to his troope, saying that he would force the Federal army to retreat. He appealed to them to stand by him. Orders had been issued for the Federal troops to march Sunday night, but was prevented by the condition of the roads, which heavy rains had rendered impassable. Mr. Wilson, of Massachusetts, offered an amend-ment to the amendment of the Senator from Ver-mont, striking out all after the first section and substituting the second section.

It provides that the act shall not be construed in any way to effect the punishment of any person for treason.

The third section authorizes and requires the President to seize property of the leading rebels (substantially the same as Mr. Sherman's amendment). The fourth section provides that, whenever deemed necessary to suppress the rebellion, the President is authorized to seize the personal property of other rebels than those included in the

The fifth section provides that when the owners of properly flee, so that they cannot be brought to trial, if they do not appear by a certain day specified by the constitution, the property be con specified by the constitutior, the property be confiscated and the slaves freed.

The sixth section provides that the President be authorized and required to make proclamation to fix the day—not more than thirty days after the passage of the bill—when the slaves of all persons who can tinue in rebellion shall be freed.

The averagh action provides for yoluntary

The seventh section provides for voluntary clonization and emigration.

The eighth section gives the President power f amnesty.

Mr. Wilson briefly explained the substitute.

A general debate ensued on referring the concation bill to a special committee.

Mr. McDougal offered a substitute therefor, embodying the views of the Board of Trade of Boston and the Chamber of Commerce of New Boston and the Chamber of Commerce of New York on the subject.

On motion of Mr. Sumner, thirty thousand copies were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Sumner expressed dissent from some features of the bill as reported.

The consideration of the confiscation bill was resumed, and, after debate, Mr. Clark's motion to refer it to a special committee of nine was agreed to—24 against 14.

After Executive session, the Senate adjourced.

After Executive session, the Senate adjourned. Mr. Dawes called up the California election case. The resolution reported from the Committee on Elections, declaring that F. F. The London Times, of the 24th ult., says that advices from America indicate that the recent battles had no effect in creating the hope that the termination of the war was at hand, but that shipments of gold were beginning to create apprehension, and that it would surprise no one to hear of a decree from Washington prohibiting the export of specie.

The Times also announces the termination of its correspondence from the Potomac, and says the President formally decided that Russell would not be permitted to avail himself of McClellan's invitation to accompany the army; that the Federal Government fears independent criticisms; that the troops were desirous of carrying with them a historian that the world would believe; and that Russell would have been received with joy in the rebel camps, but, out of a scrupulous regard for confidented trust, and fear of imputation that he would afford the rebels useful information, he returned to England.

How they Treat Dead and Wounded, Revolting Atrocities Disclosed.

Report of a Congressional Committee.

The following is a portion of the testimony taken by the Committee on the Conduct of the War, showing the horrid atrocities committed by the rebels upon our dead and wounded soldiers af-ter the battle of Bull Runs the rebels upon our dead and wounded soldiers after the battle of Bull Run.

Mr. Nathaniel F. Parker testifies that he was kept in close confinement, denied exercise, and, with a number of others, huddled up in a room; that their food, generally scant, was always bad, and sometimes nauseous; that the wounded had neither medical attention nor humane treatment, and that many of these latter died from sheer neglect; that five of the prisoners were shot by the sentries outside, and that he saw one man, Tibbitts, of the New York 27th regiment, shot as he was passing his window on the 8th of November, and that he died of the wound on the 12th. The perpetrator of this foul murder was subsequently promoted by the rebel government.

Dr. J. M. Homiston, surgeon of the 14th N. Y. regiment, testifies that when he solicited permission to remain on the field and to attend to wounded men, some of whom were in a helpless and painful condition and suffering for water, he was brutally refused. They offered him neither water nor anything in the shape of food. He and his companions stood in the streets of Manassas, surrounded by a threatening and boisterous crowd, and were afterwards thrust into an old building, and left, without sustenauce or covering, to sleep on the floor. It was only when faint and exhausted, in response to their earnest petitions, they having been without food for twenty-four hours, that some cold bacon was grudgingly given to them. When, at last, they were permitted to go to the relief of our wounded the secession surgeon would not allow them to perform operations, but intrusted to his young assistants, "some of them with no more knowledge of what they attempted to do than an apothecary's clerk." And further, "that these inexperienced surgeons performed operations upon our men in a most horrible manner; some of them were absolutely tore out and the bone stack through again. Dr. Swalm tried afterwards to remedy it by performing another operation, but Prescott had become see debilitated that he did not survive." Corporal Precott was a young man of high position and had received a liberal education.

The witness de cribes the surferings of the wounded affect he battle as inconceivably horribit; with bad food, no covering, no water. They were typing upon the floor as thickly as thry could be laid. "There was not a peritiel of light in the house to enable us to move among them." Deaf to all his appeals, they continued to refuse wa'er to these suffering more, and he was only enabled to procure it by esting cups under the eaves to catch the rain that was falling, and in this way he spent the night catching the water and conveying; it to the wounded to drirk. A sthere was no light, he was obliged to crawl on his bands and knees to avoid stepping on the treve val had died during the right." The young surgeon, who seemed to delight in heaking and butchering these brave defenders of our country's fig, were not, it would seem, permitted to perform any operations upon the rabel wounded. "Some of our wounded," sys this witness, "were not, it would seem, permitted to perform any operations upon the rabel wounded." Some of our wounded, says this witness, where not, it would seem, permitted to perform any operations upon the rabel wounded. "Some of our wounded, says this witness, "were not, there days a fart they were brave defenders of our country's fig, were not, twould seem, permitted to perform any operations upon the rabel wounded." Some of our wounded, says this witness, and the statement of the bodies had been of the part and the the rebel dead were carried off and interred decently. In answer to a question whether the Confederates themselves were not also destitute of medicine, he replied: "they could not have been, for they took all ours, even to our surgical lastraments." He received none of the attention from the surgeons on the other side, "which," to use his own language, "I should have shown to them had our position been reversed."

The testimony of William F. Swalm, assistant-surgeon of the Fourteenth New York regiment, who was taken prisoner at Sudley's Church, states that after he himself had been removed to Richmond, when seated one day with his feet on the window-sill, the sentry with his musket cocked and pointed at him, and withdrew in time to save his life. He gives evidence of the careless, heartless, and cruel manner in which the surgeons operated upon our men. Previous to leaving for Richmond, and ten or twelve days after the battle, he saw some of the Lugine soldiers applying of the fall. The same of the manner in should have all one of the manner in shouse to him of and spoke to him of the manner in chief had been disintered. He admitted that our troops had been disintered. He admitted that our troops had been very badly treated." In confirmation of the testimony of Dr. Swalm and Dr. Homiston, the testimony of William F. Swalm, assistant early by add surgical treatment. The testimony of William F. Swalm, assistant early treated. The confirmation of the testimony of the testimony of the send with the surgeon of the dead being left unburied, and stated that the merchant the sentry with his musket cocked and pointed at him, and withdrew in time to save his life. He gives evidence of the careless, heartless, and cruel manner in which the surgeons operated upon our men. Previous to leaving for Richmond, and ten or twelve days after the battie, he saw some of the Union soldiers unburied on the field, and entirely usked. Walking around were a great many women, gloating over the horid sight.

"When getting into his ambulance to look after his own wounded he was fired upon by the rebels. When he told them who he was, they said they would take a parting shot at him, which they did, wounding him in the leg. He had his boots on would take a parting shot at him, which they did, wounding him in the leg. After we had done this we went to that perion, of the field, where the battle had first commenced, and began to dig for the remains of Captain Tower. We brought a soldier, with us to designate the place where he was buried. He had been wounded in the battle, and had seen from the window of the house where, the captain was intered. On opening the ditch or trench we found it alled with soldiers, all buried with their faces downward. On taking up some four or five we discovered the remains of Captain Tower mingled with three of the men. We took them, placed them in a coffin and brought them home. heard a rebel doctor on the steps below my rooms say, that he wished he could take out the hearts of the d.—d Yackees as easily as he could take off their legs. Some of the southern gentlement treated me very handsomely. Wade Hampton, who was opposed to my haviery, came to see me and behaved like a generous enemy.

It appears, as a part of the history of this rebellion, that Gen. Receits was Visited by his wife, who, having first heard that he was allive but wounded, travelled under great disculsies to Manassas to see her historia. He say: She had almost to fight her way, through, but ancesded finally directed under great disculsies to Manassas to see her historia. Colonel Wilcox and myself were objects of interest, and were gazed upon as if we were a couple of savages. The people would come in there and say all corts of things to us and about us, until I was obliged to tell them that I was a prisoner and had nothing to say. On our way to Richmond, when we reached Gordonsyille, many women crowded around the cars, and asked my wife if she cooked it she washed? how she got there? Finally, Mrs. Ricketts appealed to the officer in charge, and told him that it was not the intention that we should be subjected to this reatment, and if it was continued she would be reatment, and if it was continued she would be reatment, and if it was continued she would be reatment, and if it was continued she would be reatment, and if it was continued she would be reatment. D. B. Lathrop, operator on the U. S. military telegraph, died last night from injuries by the explosion of a torpedo, placed by the rebels in the deserted telegraph office at Yorktown. Mr. Lathrop was a resident of Springfield, Ohio, and was highly esteemed.

treatment, and if it was continued she would make it known to the authorities. Gen. Johnston took my wife's carriage and horses at Manassas, kept them, and has them yet for aught I know. When I got to Riehmond, I spoke to several gentlemen about this, and so did Mrs. Ricketts. They said, of course, the carriage and horses should be returned, but they never were. "There is one debt," says this gallant soldier, "that I desire very much to pay, and nothing troubles me so much now as the fact that my wounds prevent me from entering upon active service at once." sire very much to pay, and nothing troubles me so much now as the fact that my wounds prevent me from entering upon active service at once."

The case of Louis Francis, who was terribly wounded and maltreated, and lost a leg, is referred to by General Rickets, but the testimony of Francis himself is startling. He was a private in the New York 14th regiment. He says: "I was attacked by two rebel soldlers, and wounded in the right knee with the bayonet. As I lay on the sod they kept bayonetting me until I received fourteen wounds. One of them left me, the other remaining over me, when a Union soldier coming up shot him in the breast and he fell dead. I lay on the ground until 10 o'clock next day. I was then removed in a wagon to a building; my wounds examined and partially dressed. On the Saturday following we were carried to Manassas, and from thence to the general hospital at Richmond. My leg having partially mortified I consented that it should be amputated, which operation was performed by a young man. I insisted that they should allow Dr. Swalm to be present, for I wanted one Union man there if I died under the operation. The stitches and the band slipped from neglect, and the bone protruded and about two weeks after another operation was performed, at which time another piece of the thigh bone was sawed off. Six weeks after the amputation, and before it bealed, I was removed to the tobacco factory."

Two operations were subsequently performed (Tribune's Despatch.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.

The Select Committee of the House on confiscation and emancipation has instructed its chairman, Mr. Elliott, to report two bills—the first of which is agreed to by Mr. Noell, of Missouri, as well as by Messrs. Elliott, Hutchinsoo, Reaman, and Sedgwick, but opposed by Mallory, of Kentucky, and Cobb, of New Jersey, confiscates all the property, real and personal, of leading classes of rebels (embracing somewhat more than are covered by Senator Sherman's bill), who shall continue in rebellion after the passage of the bill. By another section the property of all other rebels who continue, each sixty days after its passage, shares the same fate.

The President is to seize the property, but the courts are to institute proceedings. The claims of loyal creditors are made liens upon the property taken.

Two operations were subsequently performed on Francis—one at Fortress Monroe and one at Brooklyn, New York—after his release from

Two operations were subsequently performed nor anything in the shape of fod. He and his companions stood in the streets of Manassas, surrounded by a threatening and boisterous crowd, and were afterwards thrust into an old building, and left, without sustenance or covering, to sleep on the foor. It was only when faint and exhausted, in response to their earnest petitions, they having been without food for twenty-four hours, that some cold bacon was grudgingly given to them. When, at last, they were permitted to go to the relief of our wounded the secession surgeon would not allow them to perform operations, but intrasted to his young assistants, "some of them with no more knowledge of what they attempted to do than an apolthecary's clerk."

And further, "that these inexperienced surgeons performed operations upon our men in a most horrible manner; some of them were absolutely frightful." "When," he adde, "I asked Dr. Darby to allow me to ampurate the leg of Corporal Prescott, of our regiment, and said that he hould be allowed to do it." While Dr. Darby to allow me to ampurate the leg of Corporal Prescott, of our regiment, and said that he hould be allowed to do it." While Dr. Homiston was waiting, he says a secessionst came through the room and said, "they are operating upon one of the Tankes' legs up stairs."

'I went up and found that they had cut off Prescott's leg. The assistants were pulling on the fish at each side, trying to get flap enough to cover the bone. They had sawed off the bone without leaving any of the fish to form the flap to cover the thone. The main road of retreat is up the Penicsuls, close on the bank of York river, which will bring the robel army within range of cur gunboats that are conducting Franklin's transports to their rear. There are four gunboats in this service. McClellan has transports sufficient to forward 20,000 additional soldiers from Yorktown to West Point immediately. The French Minister went to Richmond to assure the rebels that the Emperor of the French does not recognize them as a power among the nations; that France and England, by recognizing them as beligerents, did all that could be expected on the part of neutral Governments; that the blockade of their ports is effectual; that they are fairly beaten in arms: and that their independent. are fairly beaten in arms; and that their independence as a nation is impossible; that a continuance of hostilities by the threatened destruction of the cotton and tobacco crops of their citizens would only be a wanton it jury to the commerce of the world, injuring France and England even more than the United States; and that a reart to querilla warfare, as proposed, when their

James Cameron's body, and knew that "it had been stripped, and also where it had been buried." Mr. Scholes, in answer to a question of one of the committee, described the different treatment extended to the Union soldiers and the rebel dead. The latter had little head boards placed at the head of their respective graves and marked; none attacked the Turks near Niksch. The insurgents were repulsed eight times.
